ISU College Dems Register Over 2,650 Voters

NORMAL, Ill. – The Illinois State University College Democrats announced today that they have registered over 2,650 voters for the November elections.

The College Dems working with allied groups on campus for over a month were registering new voters up until today's deadline with the hope of promoting civic participation across campus.

"I am so proud of the work that everyone has done in making this a huge success," said ISU College Dems President Bill Gugerty. "This really shows the power that students have when they come together and believe in something."

"We registered more people than live in all Watterson Towers," said President Emeritus Zach Koutsky. "I am just blown away by the enthusiasm of the students, and I believe that these early successes will lead to victories for John Kerry, Barack Obama and other Democratic candidates down the ticket."

Koutsky also added "the ISU College Dems hope that students will join us in our support for a needed change in this county, but we also want to ensure that every student is registered to vote and gets out to the polls on November 2."

The ISU College Dems are a registered student organization at Illinois State University. The primary goal of the ISU College Dems is to help elect democrats to office at all levels of government and to raise civic participation among the 20,000 students of Illinois State University.
